

Transracial Adoption

A Virtual Workshop for OK foster and adoptive parents and adoption professionals by Beth Hall, author of Inside Transracial Adoption

Ever asked....

What is it like to adopt transracially?

How can white parents support adopted children of color as they make sense of race in America?

How do we deal with extended family members who are not supportive?

How can we help a child connect when we adopt internationally?

How do we expand our world to include people of other races in our child's world?

How can professionals help prepare families for a transracial adoption?

Beth Hall... has the perspective of an experienced adoptive parent and professional. She is a nationally known speaker who combines real life stories with practical strategies that provide and create solutions and plans for families. Beth is co-founder of PACT, An Adoption Alliance, to serve adopted children of color and their families. She resides in Oakland, California.
